

Introductory Analysis of Linked Health Data course in Melbourne in 2019

Dates: 8-12 July 2019

Location: The Peter Doherty Institute for Infection and Immunity, Melbourne

Instructor: Professor David Preen, University of Western Australia

Pre-requisites: Be familiar with basic epidemiological principles and terms. A working knowledge of statistical concepts, including regression models, used in data analysis in the medical and social sciences.

Booking: Through eventbrite: <https://ialhd2019.eventbrite.com.au>

Early bird tickets on sale now and places are limited!

To purchase tickets, receive updates, for enquiries and further information please contact chelsea.brown2@mh.org.au

A joint venture between The University of Melbourne and The Royal Melbourne Hospital